The COVID-19 pandemic has led to huge loss of human life. The economic and social disruption caused by the pandemic is devastating. Strict measures have been implemented by countries in order to reduce the transmission and the exposure of COVID-19. However, these measures have inevitably brought widespread disruption to normal crew change operations as crews are prevented from joining or disembarking their vessels.

Marine Insurance Club is delighted to invite experienced professionals from various maritime fields to share their perspectives and practical experiences on how COVID-19 affects crew changes and practical measures to deal with it, speaker biographies are as below:
